

Is there funding available?

Students admitted to the PhD program are fully funded for six years. Students will receive a minimum of two years of fellowship support, typically the first year and fifth year, and will ordinarily begin teaching in their second year, supported by a TAsip. The remaining years will be funded by a combination of departmental fellowships and TAsips. Students are also eligible to apply for competitive external and internal fellowships, such as those offered by the Rutgers Center for Cultural Analysis and Institute for Research on Women.

Funding is subject to change by the School of Arts and Sciences and the School of Graduate Studies.
